INSTRUCTIONS, REGULATIONS, &c.

A.O. 2, 1911—Census.

The census of the United Kingdom will be taken on the night of Sunday, 2nd of April, 1911. The attention of Officers Commanding stations at home and of General Officers Commanding abroad is directed to the following information and instructions relating to the enumeration of the military population. Every facility must be afforded by all military officers to the local civil census officers in the performance of their duties:—

1. England and Wales.

(i.) The local Registrars of births and deaths will conduct the enumeration in their respective areas under the general direction of the Registrar-General for England. The local census authority, in communication with the Officer Commanding the troops at any station which has a military population of over 100, will appoint such military officers as may be necessary for the enumeration of the occupants of the various barracks and other military buildings in the station. An officer so appointed will receive remuneration from civil funds at the scale fixed.

(ii.) Military enumeration officers will be supplied by the local census authority, with special military enumeration books, in which the required particulars are to be entered in accordance with the instructions contained therein. Each enumeration book will contain space for 300 officers and soldiers, with a due proportion of women and children and other persons required to be enumerated.

(iii.) It is desirable that the labour of preparing the enumeration books in large barracks, &c., should be spread as far as possible, and in these cases the Officer Commanding a station will issue such orders as he may think necessary for preliminary work on the enumeration books to be carried out as far as possible by Officers Commanding squadrons, batteries, companies or other small units. It should be particularly noted, however, that remuneration will only be paid to an officer appointed to be enumeration officer, and that the census authority, and that the officer so appointed will be responsible that the number of persons recorded in the books signed by him is correct.

(iv.) The books, when duly completed, will be returned by the military enumeration officer concerned to the local civil census authority.

(v.) The foregoing instructions will not apply at stations, barracks, &c., in which the total military population is 100 or less, as in these cases the census will be taken by the ordinary civilian enumerator, who will deliver a schedule or schedules to be filled up by the Commanding Officer, or by officers and soldiers in respect of separate dwellings occupied by them. No remuneration is payable in these cases. The limit of 100 military population, as determining whether the census will be taken by a Military Enumerating Officer or by the ordinary civilian enumerator, cannot be rigidly enforced, and in cases where the number approximates to 100 discretionary power is vested in the local Registrar, acting under the authority of the Registrar General.

2. Scotland.

The local Registrars of births, deaths, and marriages will conduct the enumeration in their respective areas under the general direction of the Registrar General for Scotland. The procedure will be supplied to the on the same lines as in England and Wales; but the enumeration books, which will be supplied by the local census authority, will be those in use for the Scottish census in respect of public institutions including military barracks. In addition, a separate return giving particulars of absentees from barracks, &c., on the census night will be required, and forms for this purpose will be distributed and collected by the local census authority, with the enumeration books. Remuneration to duly appointed enumerating officers, in the case of barracks, &c., containing more than 100 inmates, will be granted from civil funds according to an authorized scale.

As in the case of England and Wales, the census of barracks containing less than 100 inmates will be taken by means of schedules furnished by the ordinary enumerator.

3. Ireland.

In Ireland the census authority will be the Commissioners appointed under the Census (Ireland) Act, 1910, and the civilian enumerators will consist of officers and men drawn from the police force of the Dublin metropolis and the Royal Irish Constabulary. The procedure will be, generally, similar to that in England, except that the ordinary census form in use in Ireland will be distributed and collected by the civil census authority.

This will be supplemented by a separate return giving particulars of the absentees on census night. Forms for the absentee returns will be supplied by the War Office to the General or other officer commanding stations in Ireland, who will make such distribution as may be necessary, collect the forms after completion, and return them direct to the War Office.

Enumeration Officers in Ireland are not entitled to remuneration.

4. Channel Islands and all commands abroad (except India).

(i.) Those to be enumerated are all commissioned officers, warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men serving on an army engagement and borne on the strength of the command, together with their wives and children.

(ii.) General officers commanding abroad will be furnished by the War Office with military enumeration books, for completion on the night of Sunday, 2nd April, 1911, in accordance with the instructions contained therein. These books will each contain space for the description of 300 officers and soldiers, with a due proportion of women and children. General Officers commanding will make such arrangements for their completion as they think fit, but no remuneration will be paid abroad, and it is therefore to be made desirable that the work of completion should be spread as far as possible. These returns are to be made in addition to any that may be required by the local census authority.

(iii.) After completion the enumeration books will be despatched by General Officers commanding with the least possible delay to "The Secretary of the War Office (C. 2, B), Whitehall, London, S.W."

5. India.

(i). Those to be enumerated are all officers, warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the British Army who are borne on the Indian establishment (regimental establishments only, excluding staff and departments), together with their wives and children.

(ii.) General Officers Commanding divisions and independent brigades will be furnished by the War Office with military enumeration books for completion on the night of Sunday, 2nd April, 1911, in accordance with the instructions contained therein. The procedure will be as stated above for Commands abroad.

6. Troops at sea on 2nd April, 1911.

Arrangements will be made by the War Office to supply military enumeration books to the Officers Commanding troops on board ships which will be at sea on the census night.

Such troops will therefore not be included in the enumeration books of any station.

The G.O.C.-in-C., moreover, will strictly limit the period during which he permits the O.C. a Territorial Force unit to employ acting instructors, and any extension of the period must form the subject of a new application.

(b.) Acting instructors will be allowed in the proportion of 1 instructor to every 25 recruits, for the instruction of whom no permanent staff instructor is available.

A certificate will be completed for each day on which acting instructors are employed.

(vi.) Only Territorial Force N.C.Os., reservists, pensioners, and discharged soldiers are to be employed as acting instructors, and reservists, pensioners, or discharged soldiers are not to be employed unless they were N.C.Os. in the regular forces and there are no qualified Territorial Force N.C.O's. available.

INSTRUCTIONS, REGULATIONS, &c.

A.O. 2, 1911—Census.

The census of the United Kingdom will be taken on the night of Sunday, 2nd of April, 1911. The attention of Officers Commanding stations at home and of General Officers Commanding abroad is directed to the following information and instructions relating to the enumeration of the military population. Every facility must be afforded by all military officers to the local civil census officers in the performance of their duties:—

1. England and Wales.

(i.) The local Registrars of births and deaths will conduct the enumeration in their respective areas, under the general direction of the Registrar-General for England. The local census authority, in communication with the Officer Commanding the troops at any station which has a military population of over 100, will appoint such military officers as may be necessary for the enumeration of the occupants of the various barracks and other military buildings in the station. An officer so appointed will receive remuneration from civil funds at the scale fixed.

(ii.) Military enumeration officers will be supplied by the local census authority, with special military enumeration books, in which the required particulars are to be entered in accordance with the instructions contained therein. Each enumeration book will contain space for 300 officers and soldiers, with a due proportion of women and children and other persons required to be enumerated.

(iii.) It is desirable that the labour of preparing the enumeration books in large barracks, &c., should be spread as far as possible, and in these cases the Officer Commanding a station will issue such orders as he may think necessary for preliminary work on the enumeration books to be carried out as far as possible by Officers Commanding squadrons, batteries, companies or other small units. It should be particularly noted, however, that remuneration will only be paid to an officer appointed to be enumeration officer, the census authority, and that the officer so appointed will be responsible that the number of persons recorded in the books signed by him is correct.

(iv.) The books, when duly completed, will be returned by the military enumeration officer concerned to the local civil census authority.

(v.) The foregoing instructions will not apply at stations, barracks, &c., in which the total military population is 100 or less, as in these cases the census will be taken by the ordinary civilian enumerator, who will deliver a schedule or schedules to be filled up by the Commanding Officer, or by officers and soldiers, in respect of separate dwellings occupied by them. No remuneration is payable in these cases. The limit of 100 military population, as determining whether the census will be taken by a Military Enumeration Officer or by the ordinary civilian enumerator, cannot be rigidly enforced, and in cases where the number approximates to 100 discretionary power is vested in the local Registrar, acting under the authority of the Registrar General.

2. Scotland.

The local Registrars of births, deaths, and marriages will conduct the enumeration in their respective areas under the general direction of the Registrar General for Scotland. The procedure will be, generally, on the same lines as in England and Wales; but the enumeration books, which will be supplied by the local census authority, will be those in use for the Scottish census in respect of public institutions, including military barracks. In addition, a separate return giving particulars of absentees from barracks, &c., on the census night will be required, and forms for this purpose will be distributed and collected by the local census authority, with the enumeration books. Remuneration to duly appointed enumeration officers, in the case of barracks, &c., containing more than 100 inmates, will be granted from civil funds according to an authorized scale.

As in the case of England and Wales, the census of barracks containing less than 100 inmates will be taken by means of schedules furnished by the ordinary enumerator.

3. Ireland.

In Ireland the census authority will be the Commissioners appointed under the Census (Ireland) Act, 1910, and the civilian enumerators will consist of officers and men drawn from the police force of the Dublin metropolis and the Royal Irish Constabulary. The procedure will be, generally, similar to that in England, except that the ordinary census form in use in Ireland will be distributed and collected by the civil census authority.

This will be supplemented by a separate return giving particulars of the absentees on census night. Forms for the absentee returns will be supplied by the War Office to the General or other Officers commanding stations in Ireland, who will make such distribution as may be necessary, collect the forms after completion, and return them direct to the War Office.

Enumeration Officers in Ireland are not entitled to remuneration.

4. Channel Islands and all commands abroad (except India).

(i.) Those to be enumerated are all commissioned officers, warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men serving on an army engagement and borne on the strength of the command, together with their wives and children.

(ii.) General officers commanding abroad will be furnished by the War Office with military enumeration books, for completion on the night of Sunday, 2nd April, 1911, in accordance with the instructions contained herein. These books will each contain space for the description of 300 officers and soldiers, with a due proportion of women and children. General Officers commanding will make such arrangements for their completion as they think fit, but no remuneration will be paid abroad, and it is therefore the more desirable that the work of completion should be spread as far as possible. These returns are to be made in addition to any that may be required by the local census authority.

(iii.) After completion the enumeration books will be despatched by General Officers commanding with the least possible delay to "The Secretary of the War Office (C. 2, B), Whitehall, London, S.W."

5. India.

(i.) Those to be enumerated are all officers, warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the British Army who are borne on the Indian establishment (regimental establishments only, excluding staff and departments), together with their wives and children.

(ii.) General Officers Commanding divisions and independent brigades will be furnished by the War Office with military enumeration books for completion on the night of Sunday, 2nd April, 1911, in accordance with the instructions contained therein. The procedure will be as stated above for Commands abroad.

6. Troops at sea on 2nd April, 1911.

Arrangements will be made by the War Office to supply military enumeration books to the Officers Commanding troops on board ships which will be at sea on the census night.

Such troops will therefore not be included in the enumeration books of any station.

All such applications must contain a statement giving—

The G.O.C.-in-C. will not authorise the employment of any acting instructors unless he is satisfied that the unit making the application has made every effort to spread the training of its recruits over the period before the annual camp, so as to avoid as far as possible the necessity of seeking such assistance. The G.O.C.-in-C., moreover, will strictly limit the period during which he permits the O.C. a Territorial Force unit to employ acting instructors, and any extension of the period must form the subject of a new application.

(iv.) No active instructors are to be employed unless the authority of the G.O.C.-in-C. has been previously obtained, and then only subject to the following provisos:—

(a.) No acting instructor is be employed unless the available number of permanent staff instructors is insufficient to instruct the number of recruits present at a drill station or unit headquarters on any occasion. Each permanent staff instructor, including the acting serjeant-major, is expected to be able to instruct about 25 recruits.

(b.) Acting instructors will be allowed in the proportion of 1 instructor to every 25 recruits, for the instruction of whom no permanent staff instructor is available.

(v.) Acting instructors so employed will receive pay and allowances, as laid down in paras. 568 and 570.

This payment will be held to cover any travelling or other expenses which an acting instructor may be put to, and no further claim of any description will be admitted in connection with his employment as acting instructor.

The authority for the payment of acting instructors will be a certificate made out in the form shown in Appendix 20.

A certificate will be completed for each day on which acting instructors are employed.

(vi.) Only Territorial Force N.C.Os., reservists, pensioners, and discharged soldiers are to be employed as acting instructors, and reservists, pensioners, or discharged soldiers are not to be employed unless they were N.C.Os. in the regular forces and there are no qualified Territorial Force N.C.O's. available.
